American Building Association.

The people or the United States have the reputation of being the most enterprising and successful race of modern times. That we excel in practical talent is on every hand assumed; and yet we have somehow failed to solve the problem how to live in cities comfortably, and at the same time cheaply. The most heimous want of the day is houses; and houses must somehow be had, or the wheel of material progress will be fore very long stand still. In New York City, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago and Boston, the cry is for more house-room; and even in Philadelphia, so lately the paradise of the workingman, where every main could own his own house, or else command a handsome home for his family at less than $150 n year, reas every man could own his own house, or else command a handsone home for his family at less than $150 n year, rents have more than doubled, and houses are no longer to be had. At the close of the war, men flocked to the large cities, soon exhausting what little surplus accommodations remained after the surplus accommodations remained after the surplus accommodations of nearly suspended build-cities, soon exhausting what little surplus accommodations remained after four years of nearly suspended building enterprise. At the same lime capitalists, who might quickly have relieved the pressure with handsome profit to themselves, refrained from investing their means in building, restrained partly by the high-prices of labor and materials, and partly by the proverbial timidity of capital. The mischief which has resulted is great. The populations of our chief cities are squeezed into a narrower compass of lodgings than is at all safe for the public health; the summer is upon us, and the cholera has already landed upon our shores.

What is to be done? The surplus people must either be got rid of by migration, which is opposed to their material interest as well as that of the cities which their labors help to enrich, or else they must be provided with homes in the city or suburbs, where they can exist without violating all sanitary laws; or in the last place pestilence and cholera may be expected shortly to mow down myriads of ready victims.

Is it entirely feasible to adopt the second of these alternatives? Is not the success of such attempts as have here to foro been made toward supplying homes for the people, such as to warrant the investment of means on a much larger scale, to remedy the present fear-rid deficiency of shelter?

arger scale, to remedy the present lear of deficiency of shelter? The first record we find of associa lons for building model houses, in this The first record we find jof associations for building model houses, in this country, dates back to the year 1853, in Boston. In that year, an association erected two blocks of dwellings, of five stories in height, each block accommodating twenty families. The space jurnished to each family, in separate tenements, was a living room, two or three sleeping rooms, a wash-room, with cupboards and a water closet. The houses have been constantly full since they were opened; no loss of rent has occurred, and they yield a clear return of six per cent on the outlay, after all expenses and repairs have been paid, although the price charged for rent is not more than the most inconvenient and unhealthy lodgings command. The stories are eight feet six inches in height, which is ample for the purpose of ventilation, and in their construction the most reconomical use of a limited space, consistent with the preservation of privacy, cleanliness and light, was steadily kept in view. In the basements are two bathing rooms, which are found of great use.

The cost of these two buildings was about $14,000 each, and the land on which each stands cost $4,000 more. Half the Cost of Manu-New and Fashionable Goods varying from $2 to $2.87 per week for each family, there being twenty separate tenements under one roof.

Those who are aware what heavy rents are oten paid by the poor, for the most unnealthy and inconvenient lodgings, will appreciate the cheapness of such nice, wholesome and well ventila ted houses as these.

The same association caused a third house, of rather superior character, for a class of tenants above poverty, who could afford to pay a rent of from a class of tenants, above poverty, who could afford to pay a rent of from two hundred to three hundred dollars a year. This building, which comprises nine dwellings und a corner shop or store, cost, including the land, about $26,000 and these tenements, which form not only comfortable but agreeable houses, have steadily returned to the owners a gross income of $2,500 per angula. Boots, Shoes and Gaiters,

One of the trustees of this association writes: "From my experience in the management of this kind of property I believe that it may in all cases, with proper care, be made safe and permanent for investment. But what I think still better of its, the good such houses do in elevating and making happier their tenuts and I much reloice in in elevating and making r tenants, and I much naving had an opportunity to test their

In 1855 a society in New York erected In 1835 a society in New York erected a building, containing ninety tenements of these proms each, under the mane of the "Workingmen's Home." This was designed for colored people, and is an enormous building, 190 teet in length by 55 feet in breadth, costing over $90,000. We regret to learn that it has not proved a pecuniary success, but it appears from the evidence to be owing to a want of good management. Tenants have frequently left without paying rent, the building has been injured by neglect, and care has been wanting to secure a respectable, orderly class of tennis. But in spite of all these drawbacks, and the heavy charges of two per cent municipal taxes, besides the bills for gas and water, the building has pid an annual net dividend of four percent.

per cent municipal taxes, besides the pills for gas and water, the building has paid an annual net dividend of four per cent.

The effect, which the Boston loopees have had in demonstrating that houses for the laborer can be built with the best regard to health and comfort, and at the same time be remunerative as investments of capital, has already been seen in many private undertakings. Several large houses have been built on similar plans, while many old buildings have been remodeled and improved with a view to accommodate comfortably a large number of tenants. Numerous blocks of small dwellings have been remodeled and improved with a view to accommodate comfortably a large number of tenants. Numerous blocks of small dwellings have been creted, to contain one or two families each, for the clas who can afford to pay from $3 to $6 a week, for their accommodation. Still, the more destitute poor, who cannot afford to pay such rents, are poorly accommodated, even in Boston, and live mostly in low cellars, whose very atmosphere breeds disease and death.

These embraced blocks of houses, 120 feet by 40, each house containing 80 moms. These would cost about $81,000 such at present prices, and would rent for $7,500 a year, or $250 for each family. This would yield a gross profit of about nine per cent, or deducting all taxes and expenses; would cost about $81,000 suc

CONFEDRIT X ROADS, (wich) is in the Stait uv Kentucky, March 19, 1866. March 19, 1866. Yesterday I happened to pick up a copy uv a fritefully deprayed Ablishin paper, and my horror stricken eyes wuz glued to the follerin passage, wich I read: the following:

read:

I am happy to state to you that our free negroes are doing finely. We have no trouble with them. They have all yone to work manfully. They give an impetus to trade that we never before had. Thave sold John Guttle's negroes this year and last, more goods than I this year and last, more goods than I ever sold Guitté, and he owned two hundred and fifty slaves. So you see the free negro system is working well

Ez I percozed them lines tears started involuntarily from my beamin eyes, and coursed in torrents down my venerable cheeks. I know John Guttle well, I may say intimately. He wuz a dear friend, one of the few which I call friend in the most catholic and comprehensive sense uv that word. He holds my note for eighteen dollars and 63 cents, and I hev sumwhere among my papers, wich I hev sumwhere among my papers, wich I hev sumwhere among my base of the ference, a memorandum uv his address, that I might be shoor not to forget to send it to him. But what I wuz azoln to say wuz, that the feen dishnis uv that item passes

John Guttle is robbed—John Guttle is deprived uv his property, the bread is taken from John Guttle's mouth, his department is taken from John Guttle's mouth, his department is rose. Never shall I forget John Guttle, or his hospitable mansion e. 21 knowed it in the happy years afore the crooel war. He wuz a gentleman uv the old skool—one uv the few left us in these degenerate days. His home wuz wun uv un alloved happiness. Situated-just back of Mobeel, he had the finest plantashiri in this tection, and hed on it 250 niggers. All shades wuz represented. There wuz the coal black Cuffee whose feechers denoted the pure Afrikin, and whose awkward manners showed that he wuz not long from Afrika. There wus the civilized mulatto in whose veins the Guttle blood showed, the quadroon in whom the good old Guttle blood predominated, and the octroon which wuz mostly Guttle. The Guttleses wuz eminently a Christian generation—they wuz devoutly plous, and there never wuz wun uv the name who cold not repeat without the book all uv the texts bearin on slavery. The passages in which Onesinus and Hagar figger waz favorites with em, but on "cussid be Cannam" they wuz strong. The examination in the case of Otto Burstenbinder, before the United States Commissioner, on Tuesday last, elleited

the following:

Alfred B. Nobel, being sworn for the defence, testified that he was the inventor of the practical adaptation of nitro-glycerine to blasting purposes; nitro-glycerine is only explosive under certain conditions, as is the case with many other substances not considered explosive; nitro-glycerine is not an inflammable substance, for if fire is set to it if does not catch fire like turnenting. many other substances not considered explosive; nitro-glycerine is not an inflammable substance, for if fire is set to it, it does not catch fire like turpentine or spirits, but goes out when the match is withdrawn; it does not explode by the mere application of fire; its use in blastings is only possible through the patent (use; a shower of sparks will not explode it; the application of fire has been tried hundreds of times; it requires 350 degrees of heat in a confined space before it explodes; that is 148 degrees higher than boiling water; experiments were made; to test that before the Cornwall Pyrotechnic Society, and there is a testimonial of that Society to the effect I have stated; the oil is notvotatie; it is a perfectly fixed oil; it does not ly nite by friction in the ordinary sense; platina and steel may be melted by friction, and I can't say that it could not possibly be ignited by friction; concernsion will not explode it; we tried turowing it from heights of fifty feet, and it would not explode it; we tried turowing it from heights of fifty feet, and it would not explode it, we tried turowing it op in a rocket, and its fall of more than one thousand leet did not explode it; we afterward exploded it, showing it to be pure nitro-glycerine.

Cross-examined—My business now is in nitro-glycerine oil; I have been in it more than a year; I was before connected with blasting in Sweden and Norway; before the oil was used for blasting it wis used for causing head-and not be rejeated in the mount of April can not be rejected and by the homoopathic doctors.

repeatedly asked your correspondent he thought the negro would get a vote, &c.

Union men many of you have not registered. You have permitted the time to slip by while your more wily opponents have been busy organizing, and unless you arouse you will be defeated. The opportunity you had during the mouth of April can not be repeated in May. Instead of the registrar being easily found in any part of his township, he will be necessarily confined to one private house, transcribing the names, but this need not hinder you. You have only to find him out. He is bound to register you up to and including the 9th day of May. Let those who are registered hunt up those who are not, and explain to them that the registration is for their exclusive benefit and that unless they intend to lose the State of West Virginia; unless they intend to give all power over to that party who did all in their power to destroy even liberty itself with all its blessings, they will be sent one unequent in retting Norway: before the oil was used for blasting it was used for causing head-aches, and by the homosopathic doctors for curing it: I do not profess to know aches, and by the homospathic doctors for curing it; I do not profess to know all the conditions under which it explodes; I have wirned the public as much as necessary, I think, as to the dangers of the oil, in my German pamphlet; I am not responsible for this one; nitro-glycerine has been used over the four continents; I could not tell all the accidents that have happened by it; I have known of their greasing the wheels of a cart and the oil exploding by percussion and upsetting the cart, but not exploding the oil in the cart; I know of cases where people were killed in Germany, by it; there was a fire of turpentine which heated the nitro-glycerine; there was an explosion, driving some of the turpentine into the ground; I was injured myself, but not by nitro-glycerine; my brother was killed, but not by the oil; he was experimenting with dilute nitric acid and glycerine that would not produce a drop of nitro-glycerine; there was a similar explosion at Paris; to make the nitro-glycerine glycerine must be treated with nitricacid in the presence of sulphuric, which produces different conditions entirely from what my brother was doing; I know of an accident in a mine, where a miner was clearing out the tamping from a charge which he had filled; a single drop exploded, and blew out the tamping bar without injuring the this best of Governments; to destro-even liberty-itself with all its blessings they will lose not one moment in gettin, registered. The registrars are bound to faithfully discharge their duties, do you discharge yours as free men who spille-your blood like water in a contes against those very men now seeking power. Do your duty and you will no only in the enn reap a rich reward, bu lasting peace.

Manufacturers Give Ten-Fold Value to Farms.

McQueen's statistics of the wealth and annual income of England showed:

I. That the value of the soil devoted to agriculture comprehended, at that time, twenty-six forty-thirds of the total wealth of the Kingdom.

II. That the value of England's agricultural soil was nearly 12 times greater than her whole capital invested in manufacturers and commerce.

III. That the money employed in her agriculture comprehended more than three-fourths of the capital of England.

IV. That the manufacturing and commercial capital of England, including her ships, constituted but about one-eighteenth of her national wealth. V. That the agricultural capital of England, which was then £3,311,000,000, produced a gross income of 13 per cent; while the manufacturing and trading capital, which was but £218,000,000, yielded yearly a gross income of 120 per cent!

It is that magic capital of £218,000,000 min; a drop of nitro glycerine develops in bursting a heat of about 2,000 degrees; you can explode the oil in gunpowder without setting fire to the powder; I have done it; it does not set fire to anything; this Silecian accident I only know from newspapers; the only way to explode the oil is by the patent fuse, which contains a rither strong percussion cap; even with that people often complain to me that it will not go off, which is a proof of its safety; I heard of the Wyoming Hotel explosion, but cannot get a clear account of it; one account is that before its explosion the box was in a flame. The only way I can account for the explosion in San Francisco is that the oil leaked out into the sawdust packing thus heating the oil; water and sawdust real of the proposed or the only way I can be contained to the sawdust packing thus heating the oil; water and sawdust real. leaked out into the sawdust packing thus heating the oit water and sawdust will heat to 360 degrees. The accident at Aspinwall I don't believe was from nitro-glycerine; had a single case exploded there would have been no second explosion; It would have blown the ship's bottom out; I should say there has not been above 6,000 pounds shipped from Hamourgh here; it has been transported all over Europe, and its transmission, so far as I know, has never resulted in an accident there; there are ent! It is that magic capital of £218,000,00

To Judge Dean—The properties of the oil are, first, it is a liquid; second, it is poisonous; third, if you set fire It does not explode; fourth, if contined and heated to 380 degrees it explodes; fifth, it has more concentration of power Allow ms to add my testimony to that of others, in regard to your celebrated "Biarrhea tompound." I have been for a long time surjest to the disease for which it is recommended. I have tried various remedies; but never found one that so completely eradicates the disease as your medicine. A short time, ago I rose suffering terribly will blance compound." I experienced invanidate relief from one dose, and after a shird dose fell as well as ever. I regard it as an invaluable medicine, and would not be without it. Yours truly, and would not be without it. Yours truly.
